Day 3 of me Learning in these new functions in the uix in kivy, its FloatLayout, and this basically is making the windows more adaptable in whatever devices you are on. Or basically dynamically placement

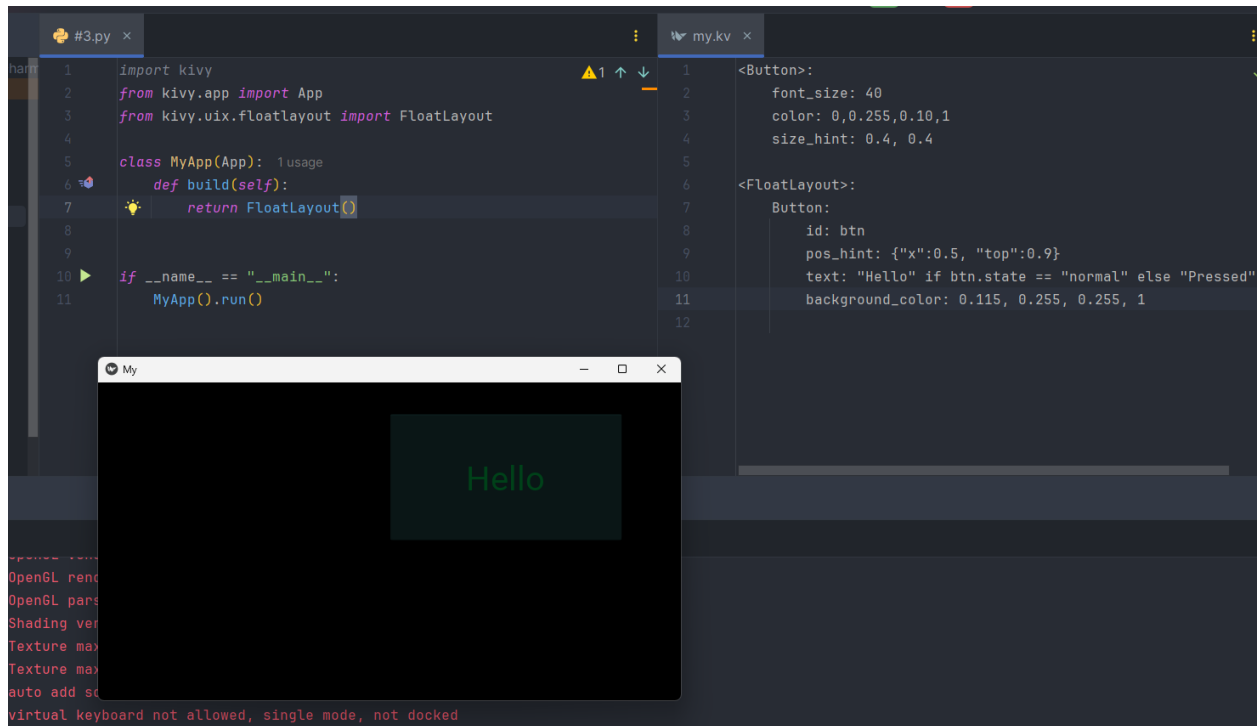

Playing around with colors

Playing around with positioning and colors

Having Fun playing with buttons and mouse inputs